

Junior National Team Announcement

On behalf of Rowing Canada, I would like to congratulate all the junior athletes and coaches who participated in the 2010 Junior National Team Trials. The future success of our Senior National Teams is rooted in the young men and women taking part in our sport at the junior level. It was encouraging to see a record number of athletes participating in the Junior National Team trials and hopefully this is a trend we will see continue for future years.

The JNT trials act as a springboard for athletes to the Junior National Team and the CanAmMex teams. Both programs play an integral role in the Rowing Canada Development Program. A significant number of present Senior National Team members participated in these events, and we fully expect that athletes chosen to represent Canada this year at the Junior level will be future members of the Senior team.

Invitations to the Junior National Team selection camp, and the CanAmMex team are based on, among others: (i) performance at the JNT trials, (ii) ergometer score rankings as submitted through the ergometer monitoring program for the past 8 months, and (iii) past performances. Athletes are assessed closely based on these factors and Rowing Canada is pleased to announce below the athletes selected to participate in the Junior National Team selection camp (to be held beginning June 29 in Victoria, BC for the men and in Welland, ON for the women) and the CanAmMex team (to begin on July 10 in London, ON). Further details on the camp and team selections can be obtained by contacting the following lead coaches for the teams:
